

No.16 / AW12

HOT

SEVEN

118 Wrap Up
Winter coats with style.

132 Hot Property
Eddie Howe and Jason Tindall take charge.

133 Lorenzo Davids
The latest sensation at the Goldsands Stadium.

136 Community Matters
Investing in the grass roots of football.

146 Bubbles
Relax in the new champagne lounge.

152 Premier Hospitality
Top Class Matchday hospitality.

162 Lucky Seven
Tie the knot at Sevens Boat Shed.

164 As the Crow Flies
Dining in style at The Crows Nest.

176 Turn up the Heat
Tune in to Hot radio.

182 Ground Scraper
A hotel with a new perspective.

188 Electric Dreams
The new hybrid car with out any compromise.

All rights reserved. Reproduction in whole or in part is forbidden except with the express permission of the publisher. The views expressed in HOT are those of the contributors and are not necessarily shared by the magazine or it's staff. EMCH / Parent except no responsibility for content and / or advertising copy supplied by third parties. HOT magazine is printed on sustainable fibre supplied through certified schemes. Both our paper mills have ISO14001 and EMAS. Please recycle this magazine when you have finished with this copy.

Bottle bag

The traditional handbag has been redesigned for the modern woman - and it comes complete with a special compartment for a bottle of wine.

Swiss creator Claudia Eicke had the unusual idea while thinking of a bag that would hold all the items a woman might need during the day.

And with women leading increasingly busy lifestyles, she decided she needed to invent a bag that would be suitable for work as well as shopping trips and parties.

The end result, called the Envoyage Taschen Weekender, boasts numerous useful compartments that enable a woman to carry everything she needs without having to use a second bag.

This includes a special tunnel compartment at the base of the bag that can be used to store - alongside others things - a wine bottle.

Claudia said: "It was quite difficult to come up with the final design".

"We made ten prototypes before we had the perfect result. It took several days".

She added: "We have had very good reactions to the bag. People like the tunnel idea and they bring their own ideas too. Some suggested putting a yoga mat in the space".

